Betrayed

Can anybody show me where in the Tory manifesto they say that they are going to invite over 3 million ethnic Chinese from Hong Kong to come and live in Britain if they were elected? At a time when homelessness, unemployment and the reliance on foodbanks by hard-working families are all on the rise, three and a half million Chinese arriving here is just what we don't need!

Danger: Racists at work

Since our last issue, a new overtly racist organisation has emerged on to our streets. Black Lives Matter. Rioting, attacking police and causing criminal damage rapidly became their trademark and demands for "equality" quickly turned into demands for Black dominance and White subservience. It is my opinion that BLM will splutter to a halt and fade into oblivion, just like their predecessor the "Anti-Nazi League" did. But until then, "Whitey" must defend his rights. "White Lives Matter", "Rights for Whites" must be our battle slogans. We could be fighting for our very survival!

Our thanks go out to the military veterans and football supporters who made their way into London at the height of the riots to defend historic statues which were being desecrated by BLM scum. Among the defenders was a small group of Britain First activists who went into the midst of the troubles and faced down the rioters.

Thank You!

Don't Make Precedents

Much of British law is based on precedent. And, as we go to print, I am hearing that one of the BLM vandals who destroyed the statue of Edward Coulson in Bristol could just be facing a police caution for his crime. If a caution becomes the precedent for destroying a statue, I can't see the statue of Nelson Mandela lasting too much longer.

Can you?

COMING SOON ...

3.5 MILLION HONG KONG CHINESE

Britain's indigenous population will face the biggest ever challenge to its racial identity if government plans for the future of Hong Kong are implemented.

For in a deliberately "low-key" announcement, our government confirmed that it is ready to offer "asylum rights" to 3.5 million Hong Kong Chinese if they decide leave Hong Kong!

In 1997, Britain handed control of its former colony back to China, following the ending of a 99 year lease obtained in 1898. Part of the handover agreement was that Hong Kong would retain a degree of autonomy remaining with the democratically elected Hong Kong authority until 2047, when China would take full control. Until then the country would be run as "one country using two systems".

Since the handover China has worked hard to extend its influence and now has support from most of the elected Hong Kong representatives, including the leader. Efforts to introduce elements of Chinese law into Hong Kong have led to resistance in the past, often leading to riots.

Hong Kong Riots

But now, in an effort to cement its power over Hong Kong citizens the Chinese Communist government is implementing a law introduced under the guise of "Security" which will make it a serious offence for Hong Kong residents to criticise the policies and actions of the People's Republic. Chinese security agencies will be allowed operate in Hong Kong and monitor Hong Kong citizens. In short, a draconian new law which would stifle all defiance and is approved by the compliant Hong Kong legislature. While Britain is right to sympathise with the anti-Communist faction in Hong Kong we should step back and acknowledge that Hong Kong is Chinese, not British and "Mind Britain's Business!"

But incredibly, despite the lease having now expired, our government views that Britain still has some responsibility for the citizens of Hong Kong and is offering to accommodate up to 3.5 million of them on our tiny island! Already 350,000 of them have been granted, British National Overseas passports which will allow them admittance to Britain immediately! Arrangements for issuing 3 million more BNO passports are in hand.

Coming to Britain SOON !

Following the announcement, the government spin doctors went to work emphasising how good these well educated, skilled and relatively wealthy refugees would be for Britain. No mention of the catastrophic impact on our housing, schools and NHS a massive influx will create.

When in 1972, 28,000 Ugandan Asian refugees were invited into Britain they changed the face of our cities, taking over small businesses and corner shops. Now imagine what the impact of 3.5 million Hong Kong Chinese will do to our racial identity, culture and values.

We are being betrayed!

NEWS AROUND BRITAIN

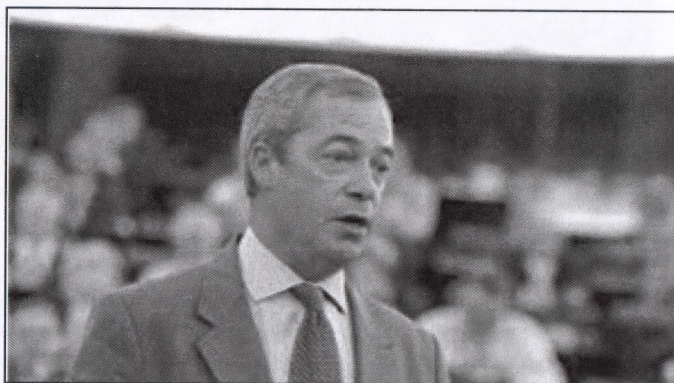

Impoverished Britain Spends £15 Billion on Overseas Aid

As Britain plunges into Billions of pounds of debt because of the Coronavirus, and tens of thousands of Britons are forced to seek help from food banks to feed their families, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) revealed that our spending on overseas aid increased in the past year by £623 million to an eye-watering £15.2 billion!

As our government considers tax rises and an end to inflation-proofed old-age pensions to help reduce Britain's largest ever national debt, our Department for International Development, gave £1.1 million to cash-rich China to develop programmes to cut the amount of salt in the average Chinese diet!

Farage Harassed by Police Over Coronavirus Travel Restrictions.

Brexit leader, Nigel Farage, who has a regular broadcasting spot on local radio, was visited at his home by Kent police following a visit to Dover to report on the mass migration across the English Channel into Kent. Mr Farage, who stood as a parliamentary candidate in Kent, posted a video about the illegal immigrant problem to Twitter, which was viewed over a half a million times.

Nigel Farage: Harassed by Police

Despite his bona-fide employment as a radio broadcaster Mr Farage was "reminded" by police of the travel restrictions in place as a result of the Coronavirus. Whilst television crews from numerous companies have previously travelled to Kent to cover this issue without attracting police attention, Mr Farage seems to have been singled out.

We understand that Mr Farage has made a formal complaint to the Kent police authorities.

Four Jailed for Membership of National Action

Four young Britons have been jailed after being convicted of being members of a banned organisation, National Action.

At a two-day trial at Birmingham Crown Court the jury was told that National Action had been proscribed as a "terrorist organisation" in December 2016.

Alice Cutter, 23 was sentenced to three years in prison and her former partner Mark Jones, 25, to five and a half years. It was alleged Jones also had connections to two other banned groups, NS131 and Scottish Dawn.

Gary Jack, aged 24, was sentenced to four and a half years and Connor Scothem, 19, to eighteen months in prison.

NEWS AROUND BRITAIN

Britain First Leader Convicted on Terrorism Charges

The leader of Britain First, Paul Golding has been convicted on charges brought under the Terrorism Act of 2000. Appearing at Westminster Magistrates Court, Mr Golding was charged for refusing to give his mobile phone and lap-top computer's pin codes and passwords to an undercover police officer at Heathrow airport.

Paul Golding

No reason was given for his detention at the airport, and the arresting officer from SO15 Terrorism Command confirmed from the witness stand that Paul was under no suspicion whatsoever of activities relating to terrorism or criminality. Another officer testified that Paul was respectful, cooperative and well behaved during the entire incident.

It seems that the initial police stop was just another example of the campaign of harassment mounted against Paul by government agencies!

Westminster magistrates were obviously wise to the political motivation behind this case and merely issued Paul with a small fine and a nine-month conditional discharge. This means if Paul is not convicted of any offences during the next nine months, then the convictions will be automatically removed from his criminal record.

Paul was supported throughout the case by Tommy Robinson.

Patriots Defend Belfast Memorials

Following the cowardly attacks on statues and war memorials in London by the ultra-left, Black Lives Matter supporters, patriots in Belfast decided to take to the streets and defend the monuments themselves. In the forefront of the defenders was the former deputy-leader of Britain First, Jayda Fransen, who now leads the new Belfast-based, British Freedom Party.

Although not the organiser of the gathering, the local press and Black Lives Matter officials have campaigned for Jayda Fransen's arrest. So far she has been questioned by the police but no charges have yet been laid.

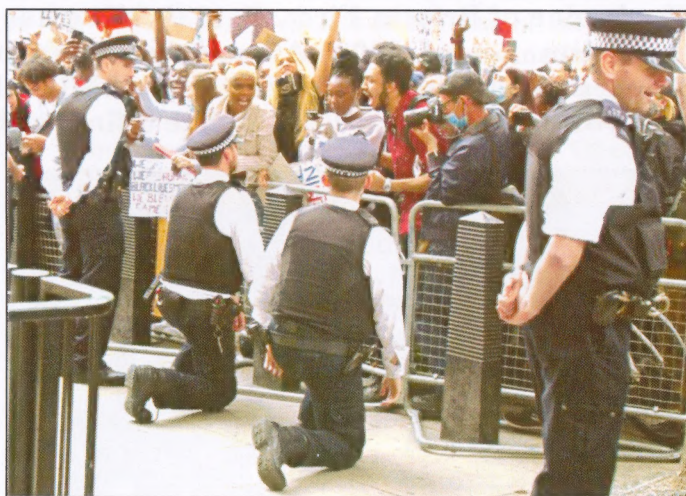

Jayda can be contacted via ... British Freedom Party

Police Demonstrate Political Bias and Home Secretary Patel Does Nothing SHAME ON YOU!

No one could have thought that the death of a Black career criminal in the US would have such a profound effect on policing in Britain. Within hours of the widely broadcast news of the death of George Floyd at the hands of a white police officer, riots by anti-racists began, leading to the inevitable looting and violence that accompany anti-racist protests in the US. Almost overnight a new slogan and a new semi-political movement was created, "Black Lives Matter".

Within five days of the US riots a "Black Lives Matter UK" was launched with protests in London leading to riots and attacks on police. Several officers were hospitalised, one, a woman constable with serious injuries. Bizarrely, as the outnumbered front-line officers fought bravely against the rioters, public buildings and highly respected statues such as those of Churchill and the Cenotaph were being vandalised and the police stood back!

Shameless: Met Officers "take the knee"

The shameless politicising of our police rapidly spread throughout the country. In Kent, the Chief Constable, Alan Pughsley joined BLM protesters in Gravesend in "taking the knee" and in nearby Chatham, police officers not only knelt in supplication, but gave the "Black Power/SWP" salute whilst doing so.

BLM Protest Turns into a Riot

We then saw the most sinister turn in policing in this century. Where our police have always appeared non-political and abided by the motto "without fear or favour", suddenly, Met police officers in London were "taking the knee" in a gesture of support for Black Lives Matter. But, instead of immediately disciplining the politicised officers, Home Secretary Priti (useless) Patel, did nothing!

Met Police Commissioner, Cressida Dick was reported as telling officers NOT to "take the knee", but no officer has been disciplined for disobeying orders!

Chief Constable of Kent joins BLM Protest

Again Home Secretary You did nothing.
Shame on You!

Is Black Lives Matter the SWP in Disguise?

When Black Lives Matter appeared on our streets recently they seemed to be just a predominately Black, non-political group using the death of a Black career criminal, George Floyd in the US as an excuse to protest against perceived discrimination in Britain. BLM quickly became fashionable amongst celebrities and politicians and its GoFundMe donation facility received over £1 million in donations.

But who are the people behind BLM and what is their true motivation? As all of the establishment media rushed to become "the Voice of the BLM", countless Black men and women gave hours of propaganda interviews, without a white face in sight. But, back on the streets, white faces seemed to be behind much of the street violence and the desecrating of statues etc.

Churchill's Statue Desecrated

In the mainstream media, BLM's message was all about "racial disadvantage and racial discrimination", but they let their guard slip on the internet and the various social media platforms demanding the abolishing of the police and the establishment of a peoples militia, the closure of prisons and detention centres and end to capitalism, all policies taken straight out of the SWP's playbook! On Facebook, the BLM/SWP has called for pay strikes at Ryanair and Amazon, another SWP demand, without explaining how such strikes would benefit BLM and the lives of Black people in Britain! Even the "clenched fist" logo used by BLM is identical to that used by the SWP. Things get stranger and stranger!

Despite having over £1 million sitting in their GoFundMe account, the BLM leadership is totally anonymous. It is not registered at Companies House or with the Charity Commission. It operates out of an accommodation address in London and has no website. No chairman or directors, no trustees.

Several well known SWP officers have been seen at BLM demonstrations and the strong similarity between the format of SWP posters and those of BLM has not gone unnoticed.

As they say, "further investigations are taking place".

Look Back at History

by Thomas Barber

James Larratt Battersby and the Apostles of Hitler

James "Jim" Larratt Battersby (1907–1955) was a member of the Battersby family of hat makers of Stockport, Greater Manchester, England. Established in 1865, the firm once had a capacity of 12,000 hats per week and employed over 1000 people.

In the 1930s, he became a member of Sir Oswald Mosley's British Union of Fascists and had articles published in the party newspaper The Blackshirt. He was also a member of the pro-German, anti-Zionist Militant Christian Patriots, a group set up by Colonel Arthur H. Lane in the early 1930s. With national headquarters at 93 Chancery Lane, London, their aim was to introduce militant Christianity into all areas of British life

Jim Battersby could have kept quiet and lived a life of luxury as a director of the family firm. Instead, he joined up with Mosley, campaigned for peace with Germany and spoke passionately at public meetings in support of Lancashire's traditional cotton industries. Battersby argued that Lancashire cotton workers' jobs were under threat from cheap imports produced in the sweatshops of India financed by the moneylenders of Europe and America.

James L Battersby

After a time, Jim Battersby was appointed B.U.F. district leader for Stockport which led to him being interned under regulation 18B during World War II. He was first held at Camp 020, Latchmere House, Richmond in South West London which was run by a sadist named Lt. Colonel Robin Stephens, nicknamed 'Tin-Eye' for the monocle he wore.

Stephens was later court-martialled and accused of disgraceful conduct of a cruel kind.

From Latchmere House, Battersby was transferred to an internment camp in Berkshire and then to Peveril internment camp on the Isle of Man where he became Policy Adviser. He was popular in the camp and showed himself to be an excellent pianist.

Latchmere House Internment Camp

During his detention on the Isle of Man, he became close friends with Thomas Guillaume St Barbe Baker M.C. (Captain Thomas Baker) who believed that Hitler was the reincarnation of Christ the Saviour. Baker was affiliated with many fascist movements before the war and was an independent Nazi speaker. Like Battersby, Baker was a member of the Militant Christian Patriots. Battersby took Baker's views quite seriously and they contributed to his religious development.

In 1943, while still in the Peveril internment camp on the Isle of Man, they formed the League of Christian Reformers and published a manifesto written by Battersby:

"We Englishmen, true to God and to England, declare the Judgement, the final struggle between God and Mammon, and the God-appointed mission of Adolf Hitler as God's Judge, from our prison camp to the leaders of our country."

"Hitler's Apostle2

James Larratt Battersby

According to Battersby, Hitler was the divine instrument used to bring the destruction foretold for thousands of years in the 19th chapter of Revelations:

"And out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron: and he treadeth the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God."

Jim Battersby wasn't alone in thinking Hitler was a divine being. Savitri Devi, who is often referred to as Hitler's Priestess, believed that Hitler had been an avatar of Vishnu, the Hindu God who, according to Hindu scriptures, is the protector and preserver of the universe. Battersby was absolutely genuine in his beliefs. In 1952 he would publish The Holy Book of Adolf Hitler, in which he developed his ideas:

"Nordic man, with whom walks eternally the Spirit of Adolf Hitler, stands on the Rock of the Redeeming Blood of his Race. Race is Religion, and in God's Chosen Race, the Aryan peoples, will be illumined the Path for all mankind ... Through Adolf Hitler has Almighty God made of the Aryans, who have survived their God-given tests, the Lords of the Earth. All hail to God's Christ and Chosen, Adolf Hitler."

After the end of the Second World War, Baker and Battersby were given Kingdom House, near Petworth in Sussex, where the League of Christian Reformers (LCR) would set up a church dedicated to the worship of Hitler. The house was donated by fascist and wealthy barrister W. G. Barlow. Barlow had been a racing driver in the 1920s but because of his fascist sympathies he had been detained in the Internment camp on the Isle of Man where he had met Baker and Battersby.

Kingdom House, Petworth.

Most members of the LCR were former 18B detainees included the 'Custodian' of Kingdom House, Arthur Schneider, who spent the summer preparing Kingdom House for the LCR following his release from internment in April 1945. In September, other members arrived, including Schneider's sisters, Battersby and Captain Thomas Baker. The League's members were planning to move their families there too. Arthur Schneider was one of the League's most fervent believers and both of his sisters, Joan and Ethel (known as May) became converts. Born in 1914 in Wolverley near Kidderminster, he was the son of an Austrian immigrant, Johann Schneider. Arthur Schneider joined the B.U.F. in 1939 and under examination by the security services, it became obvious that he held deep-seated pro-Nazi views. He was interned in the Peveril internment camp on the Isle of Man where he met Battersby and Captain Thomas Baker.

The Schneider sisters, Joan and May, moved to Kingdom House from their Women's Land Army hostel in late September 1945. From letters written by the two sisters to their brother Arthur, Captain W. J. Hutchinson, Acting Chief Constable of the Sussex Police, expressed the view that the two sisters regarded the final victory of good over evil as the victory of National Socialism over democracy.

In November 1945, Jim Battersby, and former key member of the B.U.F. Captain Robert Gordon-Canning, attended an auction of the contents of the German embassy in London.

OVERSEAS NEWS

Lady Renouf Charged with “Incitement” over Dresden Comments

The British-based, Australian born model and actress, Lady Michelle Renouf, has been charged with “incitement” by German authorities over comments she made at an event commemorating the victims of the Allied terror bombing of Dresden in 1945.

In February 2018, Lady Renouf was attending a public event in Dresden to commemorate the tens of thousands of civilians who were incinerated in a “firestorm” attack by British and USAF bombers.

Lady Renouf

Lady Renouf was not listed as a speaker at the event but gave a brief spontaneous response to anti-British comments made by some of the audience of 300, in which she acknowledged Britain’s shame for its deliberate wartime policy of targeting civilians.

These comments provoked the German authorities to charge her under Germany’s draconian, Volksverhetzung laws which forbid free speech or comment on such matters.

She is due to stand trial in Dresden in October and could face up to five years in prison.

Hitler’s Birthplace to Become Police Station

Hitler’s Birth place in Braunau, Austria

The house in which Adolf Hitler was born is to become a police station. The building was compulsorily purchased from its owner by the Austrian government in 2016 and is likely to undergo efforts to alter the appearance of the building in the hope that National Socialist pilgrims, who regard it as “sacred” will be deterred from visiting it.

Formerly a guesthouse, in 1889 Adolf’s father rented some rooms for his family, but left after about three years. The alterations are expected to finish in 2025.

An Austrian colleague told League Sentinel, “they can alter its appearance all they like but, it will remain the birthplace of our Spiritual leader, and therefore a “Holy” place”.

Summer Solstice

A sacred day in the Pagan calendar of our North European ancestors

The Summer Solstice, or midsummer's day, is the longest day of the year, when the time between sunrise and sunset is at its maximum. After the Summer Solstice daylight time gradually reduces as winter creeps in. To our North European ancestor, this was a time of celebration, for long daylight hours meant longer time in the fields and forests, hunting and growing crops for winter. Depending on the shift in the calendar, the Summer Solstice occurs between June 20th and June 22nd. This year it is June 21st.

While it was still dark, our ancestors made their way to sacred sites, and gathered inside a ring of stones, ritually placed on directions from the wise men of the tribe. Once set, the stones would remain often for centuries. Many of these stone circles remain today, the best preserved being Stonehenge in Wiltshire.

As the first rays of the sun appeared through the sacred circle, a great cheer would rise from the crowd, and the wise ones or priests, would light a sacred bonfire.

The Sun appears above the sacred circle

The day would be spent feasting and dancing, with young men testing their courage in jumping through the flames from the bonfire and walking across hot ashes. The bonfire was a vital part of the celebration as it was believed to keep evil spirits away. For this was a really spiritual event, when "magic" herbs such as Calendula and St John's Wort, both with powerful healing powers, could be safely gathered by the wise women of the tribe, for the making of potions to heal the sick. Prayers were said, asking the Gods for a successful harvest and a mild winter. Good health for the family and good luck and prosperity for the tribe were also asked.

As with many Pagan festivals, the Christian church adopted the Summer Solstice as "St John's Day", the alleged birthday of Saint John the Baptist. But this was not widely accepted, and priests often complained that on midsummer's day "those who claim to be Christians prefer to spend the day celebrating at the bonfire rather than going to church".

Today, the solstice is still widely celebrated in Northern Europe. In Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, midsummer's day is a public holiday. In Sweden and Finland a public holiday is on a fixed date, June 24th.

People flock to the countryside, light bonfires, hold feasts and perform traditional dances until sunset.

Maidens perform traditional dances

For Britons it is more awkward to celebrate the solstice. As it is not a public holiday, most people have to spend their day at work. But it is still possible to rise early to watch the arrival of the midsummer sun. In the evening, a candle can substitute for the sacred bonfire and a walk outside to watch the setting sun is not beyond most folk. Remember to offer prayers for your family and kith and kin, and give thanks to the Gods for their gifts. In this multi-cultural society it is vital that you do not abandon your individual spiritual heritage.

Blessed Be!

The author is a member of an Essex-based Pagan group, and has studied and practiced various forms of Paganism for over 30 years.

"Blood & Soil"

By Paul Armstrong

"Blood and Soil" what does this mean to the modern day youth of our folk? Well, unless they are lucky enough to be brought up in our beautiful countryside, or have studied European political history seriously, probably nothing. But does this have to be the case?

In the late 19th and early 20th century, all over industrialised Europe, new theories were being put forward in search of agrarian simplicity. In Germany two social movements 'Lebensreform' ('Life Reform') and the Artaman League were dedicated to the restoration of a more natural way of living with nature. 'Lebensreform' encouraged a back-to-nature lifestyle, emphasizing, among other things; health food, organic food, alternative medicine and abstinence from alcohol, tobacco, drugs and vaccines.

The term 'Artaman' was coined before the First World War by Dr Willibald Hentschal, and is a compound noun of 'art' and 'manen', High Middle German words meaning 'agriculture man' and indicating Hentschal's own desire to see a retreat from the decadence of the cities. Two major figures in the Artaman League, Ernst Moritz Arndt and Wilhelm Henrich Riehl, argued that the peasantry represented the foundation of the German people, and encouraged sending urban children to the countryside to work in the hope of them becoming 'Wehrbauern' ('soldier peasants').

In 1925 Heinrich Himmler, himself a small-holder, stated that "Land is the origin of all that is good, cities are the source of all that is unhealthy, corrupt and immoral". The Yeoman "on his own acre is the backbone of the German people's strength and character".

'Blood and Soil' ('Blut und Boden') had also been a term in use in Germany long before the rise of the NSDAP. 'Blood': - the ideal of a racially defined national body, and 'Soil' :- a settlement area which defines a sedentary people - as against nomadic groups who have no feeling for whatever Country they settle in. Hence 'Blood and Soil' which to this day is still a major tenet of Racial Nationalism.

However it was Richard Walther Darre who popularised the term in the late 1920's. Darre was a noted race theorist, writing, in 1928, 'Peasantry as the Life Source of the Nordic Race', he presented his theory that the difference between Nordic people and south-eastern Europeans was in the Nordic people's connection to superior land.

In 1930 he followed this with 'A New Nobility Based on Blood and Soil', and in 1933, when the NSDAP gained power, Darre became Reich Minister for Food and Agriculture a position he held until 1942. Walther Darre (right) died in 1953 and he is now considered by many as one of the father's of the "Green movement"

Unlike the children of Germany in the 1930's, (who were actively encourage by their membership of the Hitler Youth and League of German Maidens' to go to the countryside, help on the farms and follow outdoor pursuits. Making them the healthiest and fittest children in Europe at that time), our youngsters today are devoid of knowledge of rural life. I was actually chastised by teachers when my son and daughter were at infants' school because they knew about abattoirs.

It upset their classmates when they found out meat came from humanly slaughtered animals!

"Blood and Soil"

In an age when our teenagers are forced into further education (I use the word 'education' very loosely) until they are 18, couldn't they be given 4 months or so where they have to work on the land? Today most of our farm labouring is done by workers sourced from Eastern Europe, but if we put our own youngsters out there they will become superfluous. The youth of our folk will learn about farming and husbandry, gaining a greater depth of knowledge about our land and how their forefathers tilled the soil. Instead of listening to alien music, and becoming involved in drug/gang culture, they will sit after a hard day's work, faces glowing in front of an open fire, tired but proud of their achievements.

For me the theory of 'Blood and Soil' is very straightforward: Blood - the blood that our ancestors have shed; Soil - the soil that our ancestors have toiled on, and when that day has come, been buried in.

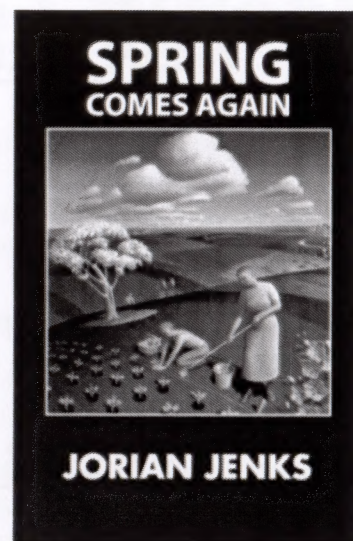

Only those of us with deep roots in our homeland can understand what the above means, because we truly belong!
